Healthy and vital organic strawberry plants!

Ten years ago, Plant nursery De Kemp BV was one of the first companies to start producing strawberry plants for organic cultivation systems. At the time a conscious, but brave decision. But we have never regretted making that decision, as every year we notice what a great future organic plant material has ahead.

The four famous Kemp values also apply to our organic plant material. Healthy, Vigorous, Uniform and Productive are equally as important to us in the organic production segment. We propagate our own basic propagating material. We make every effort to create 100% organic plants with the best possible production potential, all in accordance with Skal guidelines and conditions of course. We process the organic plants as quickly and optimally as possible. And, not forgetting, our plants are uniform and accurately sorted.

Everyone likes to be paid a compliment, and that includes our organic plants. 'I can't believe it's an organic plant!' is a compliment we often hear. Our organic plants are practically indistinguishable from conventional plant material. They are brimming with health. And the experiences of our customers who produce organic strawberries are equally as positive. Something we at Kemp are quite proud of!

The latest range of our organic plant material is listed on the following websites: www.biodatabase.nl and www.organicxseeds.de. Call or e-mail our sales team for transparent information about our 100% organically propagated plants!
